

City Council to consider zone change

By Lynne Locke
Upland City Council Monday night will consider a zone change for a property recently proposed for use as a residential home for six mentally retarded adults.
After opposition for such use from local residents the council denied that usage as incompatible with a residential neighborhood and requested the Planning Department to determine proper zoning for the lot at 965 N. Second Ave.
The Planning Commission has recommended a zone change from the present highway commercial to single-family residential. A home for the mentally retarded would be allowed if the zone change is approved. A conditional use permit is required for residential uses in a highway-commercial zone, however.

At the Dec. 15 City Council meeting Clark Reno, speaking for adjacent residents, told the council neighbors are still concerned that the use of the property be compatible with the neighborhood.
Mayor pro tem John McCarthy said the council will try to be fair to both property owner and neighboring home residents.

A private homeowner in any residential neighborhood can care for a limited number of retarded people, he noted and added such residential homes are investigated and supervised by the county and state.
A decision on the zoning was postponed until the Jan. 5 meeting when Councilman George Gibson will be present.
Also Monday the council will consider a zone change from multiple-family residential to light manufacturing for the third lot north of Eighth Street on the west side of Third Avenue.

La Verne Cooperative Citrus Association has requested the zone change to expand its storage yards and packing operation.
At the Dec. 15 meeting council members indicated concern about the effect of increasing manufacturing in the residential neighborhood and noted residents have complained about the dirty condition of the present citrus operation.
The council postponed action on the zone change to allow City

Attorney Donald Maroney time to draw up a contract with La Verne Cooperative making the zone change dependent on improvement in the condition of the company's yards.
In other action Monday night the council will consider:
—Allowing residents to vote on an improved retirement system for fire fighters. A council deadlock defeated the request by the Upland Firefighters Association at the Dec. 15 meeting.
Council members Hal Bailin and Ina Petokas noted both the improved system and the election would cost the tax payers money they cannot afford.

Mayor Abner Haldeman and McCarthy favored allowing voters to determine the matter. Gibson is expected to cast the deciding vote at Monday's meeting.
—Annexing a parcel north of Red Hill Country Club.
—Annexing 19 acres east of Wilson Avenue and north of the existing city limits.

CONGRESSMOBILE — Uplander Tracy Fagette (right) discusses service academies with Hugh West who regularly staffs Representative Jim Lloyd's mobile office. Tracy, who is under consideration for the Air Force Academy, also works as an office volunteer for Lloyd. The "congressmobile" visits Upland Civic Center 10 a.m.-4 p.m. the third Monday of each month. Residents are invited to discuss problems with federal government and opinions on national policy. Staff members are especially concerned with helping constituents deal with bureaucratic "red tape." (Photo by Lynne Locke)

Bridge to federal government Lloyd's mobile office

By Lynne Locke
After six months of operation Representative Jim Lloyd's "congressmobile" is serving as a bridge to federal government for the 43,000 residents in the "far-flung" 35th District.

The experimental camper-turned-mobile office travels from San Dimas to Alta Loma, Chino to Mt. Baldy each month so constituents can meet with Lloyd's staff members to discuss problems with federal government and opinions on national policy.

Lloyd's congressmobile was the first mobile office approved by the House of Representatives, according to community aide Hugh West.

Each representative is allowed a certain amount of money for office space to serve local constituents. For a district as large as the 35th, a mobile office is more effective than several centralized offices, West said.

Residents are encouraged to visit the congressmobile during its monthly stop in each community. The most important thing for legislators is having input from strong, responsible constituents, West noted.

Staff members deal with anything related to the federal government. He said social security and veterans' benefits are the most common problems.

Both Lloyd and his staff members are concerned with cutting "red tape" for local residents. West said staff members make telephone calls to speed up handling of problems and often help people by referring them to the agency that deals with their problem.

The congressmobile staff has been able to "unsnap" quite a number of cases that might have taken months," West said and added, "Correcting even one problem makes your day."

Besides social security and veterans' benefits problems, the staff has worked on problems with the Internal Revenue Service, immigration, radio operators' licenses and people listed as missing in action during the Vietnam conflict.

In addition to handling problems, the staff provides information and government publications. West said city officials regularly visit the congressmobile for information on such topics as environmental planning.

People also visit the congressmobile to express opinions on federal legislation and national policy. Unemployment, inflation and the energy problem have been continuing concerns to local residents, West said.

But every subject is brought to congressmobile staff, he said and noted people often come in response to newspaper articles and television reports about legislation.

All opinions are gathered and communicated to Lloyd so he will have an understanding of local opinion on different issues, according to West.

People with problems are encouraged to bring photostated copies of all important documents and letters. They also need to have relevant numbers such as social security, IRS or military service numbers, West said.

The congressmobile visits Upland 10 a.m.-4 p.m. the third Monday of the month at the Civic Center.

In addition to visiting the congressmobile, West said people are encouraged to call the Ontario office, 983-0663, the West Covina office, (714) 599-5655, or to write to the Washington office, 222 Cannon House Office Building, Washington D. C. 20515.

New jury laws go into effect Jan. 1

Two new state laws will affect jury duty, according to San Bernardino Superior Court Presiding Judge Don A. Turner. Both laws became effective Jan. 1.

The first, coauthored by Assemblyman Bill McVittie (D) of Chino, will remove all occupational exemptions from jury duty.

Previously citizens in 70 occupations including doctors, teachers and police officers, were automatically excused from jury duty.

Under the new law a person can be excused from jury duty if such service would cause personal or public hardship.

The second change requires the Department of Motor Vehicles to provide a list of all licensed drivers and people who have been issued DMV identification cards.

Previously San Bernardino County has relied on the list of registered voters for names of prospective jurors.

Donald K. Crowell, county jury commissioner, said use of the DMV list will provide a broader range of county residents for jury service.

San Bernardino County will begin to use the DMV list as soon as it is available, probably in time for 1977 juror selection.

The DMV list is expected to include about 87 per cent of the people eligible for jury duty.

News Briefs

Zoning considerations

The San Bernardino County Planning Commission Monday will consider zoning for an asphalt batch plant and a site plan for a drug treatment center, both in unincorporated territory adjacent to Upland.

The Upland and Claremont city councils have opposed the zone change which would allow an asphalt batch plant on 43.6 acres in a flood control zone at 20th Street between Benson and Central avenues. The Upland City Council said truck traffic, noise, dust and asphalt odors would not be compatible with the residential neighborhood planned east of the property.

The Day-Jul Foundation is seeking permission for a narcotics and alcohol rehabilitation center at Monte Vista Lodge in a predominantly single-family residential section of San Antonio Heights. Some adjacent residents oppose the facility as incompatible with single-family homes and detrimental to property values.

Fogelman's Birthday

By Karla Gill
Alta Loma Jr. High School

We never take our Christmas tree down until Jan. 17. Now I always thought maybe Dad was just a little bit lazy, but that was before he told me about Fogelman's birthday.

I can't promise the story is true, because Dad always smiles a lot when he tells it. However it's still one of my favorite Christmas stories.

When he was little my Dad's family was so poor they never had any Christmas presents. One year the town garbage man, crazy old Mr. Fogelman, found out about this and it made him very sad.

Everybody made fun of Mr. Fogelman because he was so tall and thin. He had long, stringy hair; a little wispy beard that never seemed to grow well; a tall, pointed hat; a tattered old coat; dusty old boots with holes in them; and he always wore black.

Every year the rich kids got lots of nice presents, but within a week they were all broken and they threw them in the trash for Mr. Fogelman to pick up.

He started saving them every day to put in his big bag he always carried slung over his shoulder — dolls without arms, wagons with a wheel missing, sleds with bent runners and puzzles with pieces missing. He even found an old, dry Christmas tree with most of its needles missing.

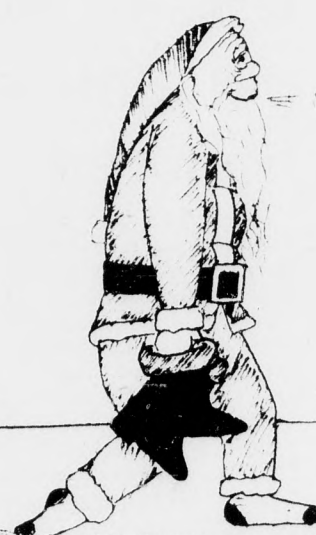

On Mr. Fogelman's birthday, Jan. 16, he put the tree and the bag of broken toys on my Dad's back porch. The next morning when my Dad woke up he had the best Christmas he ever had — even if it was in January.

Ever since then our family celebrates Christmas on Jan. 17 too and we never take our tree down until then.

Now every Christmas, whenever I see a garbage man, I think of Mr. Fogelman and I say, "Merry Christmas. Be sure to wish Mr. Fogelman a Happy Birthday!"

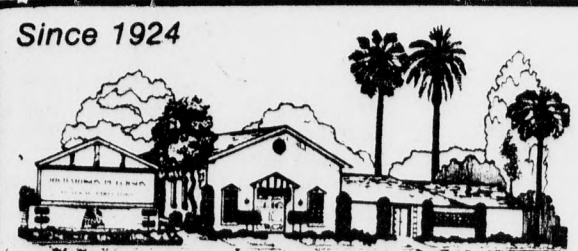

And do you know what? They always smile and wave back. I guess they've heard of Mr. Fogelman, too.

Happy Birthday Mr. Fogelman, wherever you are!!

IT'S GLAD IT'S ONLY ONCE A YEAR!

West End United Way almost reaches goal

The West End United Way has officially ended its 1975 campaign for funds showing a total of $515,649 or 94 per cent of goal set, according to statistics given at the final Victory Luncheon given recently at La Villa Guasti Restaurant.

Dale Eckrote, president of the United Way board of directors, served as the master of ceremonies in the absence of Dennis Shea, campaign chairman. Ms. United Way Judy Harbst, as well as Sharon Lacy and Alice Pendleton, members of the United Way Court, assisted with the celebration.

According to Eckrote, "We feel the campaign this year was most successful considering the cutbacks by major firms, these financial cutbacks were inevitable due to employee layoffs. We are pleased, however, because the amount of money is the most ever raised in the West End area."

The following reports were shared with those United Way Campaign and Agency participants present: Division "A"...firms with 250 or more employees...$237,864 or 84 per cent of goal; Division "B"...firms with 50 to 249 employees...$95,030 or 101 per cent of goal; Division "C"...firms with 15 to 49 employees...$30,833 or 110 per cent of goal; Division "D"...firms with 1 to 14 employees including all service and retail establishments...$22,946 or 107 per cent of goal; Division "E"...$84,857; Division "F"...professional division...$15,080 or 97 per cent of goal; Division "G"...individual givers plus other special categories...$19,753 or 101 per cent of goal; Combined Federal Campaign...$7,227 or 13 per cent of goal.

Dale Eckrote share that although a mass mailing seeking additional funds had just been received throughout the Upland and Chino areas, a total of $2059 had already been realized. He urged recipients of these letters to send your donation into the West End United Way today.

Active, successful year

Adventists review activities of 1975

Members of the Covina Seventh-day Adventist Church, serving San Dimas, La Verne and Walnut, have been very active during 1975 when they were heavily involved in welfare work, Bible distribution and special programs affecting the community, according to Pastor Jerry Sorensen. The church is located at 1067 E. Badillo St.

Church clerk Pauline Doll reported an increase of some 20 baptized members this past year, bringing the total to 237.

In her lay activities report, Marie Toenniesen of La Verne said members gave 4,462 articles of clothing and $1,489.25 in cash and food to needy persons. Some 190 persons received such aid. These figures are for one year ending Sept. 30, 1975.

Mrs. Toenniesen's report also included a successful vacation Bible school; the Dutch Indonesian cooking school which ran short of printed materials as the attendance was larger than anticipated; the fall crusade, which saw 30 commitments to Christ, seven already baptized and some 20 attending follow-up classes; and youth involvement in "Four Cs for Century 3" (community, campus, camp and character beautification for the Bicentennial).

Total funds given for World Service Appeal by church members and members of the community were $2,830 as of Dec. 20 ($2,675 was the Covina church's goal).

"We sincerely thank members of the community for helping us gather this total for health, education and welfare of those less fortunate than we," Mrs. Toenniesen said.

Dr. Alan Johlman of San Dimas, temperance secretary, reported a successful five-day stop smoking clinic held in May. Those kicking the habit resided from throughout Los Angeles County, from Long Beach to Walnut. He reported that the temperance magazine "Listen" was placed in all high schools, libraries and youth camps in San Dimas and La Verne and at La Verne College.

"More than one clinic will be planned in 1976," Johlman added.

"Now as we look forward to the new year, untouched by our feet and untainted by our failings, as we strive with God's help for new heights and victories to fill our lives with greater zeal and earnestness, 1976 will be filled with new experiences in our church and surrounding communities, and will indeed by a happy new year," concluded Pastor Sorensen.

Leo Maher leads service

The Most Rev. Leo T. Maher, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of San Diego, will lead an ecumenical prayer service at Mission San Diego de Alcalá midnight tonight. This will launch activities for the Bicentennial celebrations in the four-county diocese.

The mission marks the spot where Christianity was first established in California under the direction of Padre Junipero Serra, the Franciscan from Spain.

After the procession of ministers from different faiths forms outside the old mission, the bells will ring out ushering in the nation's 200th year.

Joining Bishop Maher in the service will be Msgr. I. Brent Eagen, chancellor of the diocese and pastor of the mission, who is also chairman of the diocesan Bicentennial celebrations.

Also in the procession will be Dr. Richard Shanor, president of San Diego County Ecumenical Conference, and Alvin Cushman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

According to Msgr. Eagen, who is also president of the NCCJ this year, one of the six original copies of the Declaration of Independence will be on display at the mission during the week following the New Year's ecumenical prayer service.

Christmas Airlift made to Mexican orphanages

Dr. and Mrs. C. Mervin Russell of Upland made their annual Christmas Airlift of supplies to needy orphanages in Mexico Dec. 19.

Dr. Russell, who is the president of World Gospel Crusades Mercy Airlift with headquarters at 1294 W. 7th St., Upland, piloted a twin-engine Aero Commander loaded with beans, rice, hams, clothing, baby mattresses and other items vital to the operation of orphanages in Mexico. Dr. Russell is an instrument - rated commercial pilot with several thousand hours of piloting experience in a variety of aircraft, including DC-3 and DC-4 cargo planes.

"It is a real joy to be able to bring Christmas to a few of the neglected orphans in Mexico," stated Dr.

Russell. "Hunger is a sad thing, but the sight of a Mercy Airlift cargo plane will brighten the hopes of many starving people in back country areas around the world this Christmas."

As president of Mercy Airlift, Dr. Russell views more hunger in a few short months than most people will see in a lifetime. He flew the first evangelical relief supplies into Managua, Nicaragua after the December 1972 earthquake. Shortly afterward, he directed massive airlifts to poverty-stricken Haiti and hurricane-ravaged Honduras.

Then in April of 1975 came an urgent cable-gram to Mercy Airlift from the government of Ethiopia urgently requesting assistance in their country which had already seen 100,000 people die in a two-year period from starvation.

Health Tips

What is influenza?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

Q. What is influenza?

A. Flu — the popular term for influenza — is a viral infection which is quite common during the winter season. The illness makes the patient feel utterly miserable, and it can sometimes (but not commonly) develop serious complications. Flu symptoms include headache, cough, sore throat, nasal discharge, fever, muscle pains and a general feeling of sickness. The most uncomfortable symptoms usually subside after a few days, but the patient is likely to feel very tired and below par for a week or so.

Q. How is influenza transmitted?

A. The infection is readily transmitted through any sort of close contact with an infected person. Exposure to a person who is coughing or sneezing can be very risky. If one person in a household has flu, the rest of the family often contracts the disease, and it spreads rapidly through classrooms and offices. Persons with flu are urged, for their own well-being as well as for the safety of others, not to go to work or school until they recover.

Q. How should flu be treated?

A. Treatment is directed toward keeping the patient comfortable and preventing the development of complications. The patient should rest, be encouraged to drink adequate amounts of fluid, and be fed a light diet. Aspirin can help to reduce the discomfort, and cough medicine often affords relief. Beyond that, the disease must run its course.

Q. Can influenza be prevented by immunization?

A. Yes, to a limited extent. The disease is due to a number of different strains of the influenza virus. Vaccines which are now available for protection combine as many strains as is feasible, the combination varying from year to year in anticipation of the particular type of flu which is foreseen that year. A number of people seem to have flu-like respiratory infections despite having been immunized. Nevertheless, this protection is effective enough so that it is usually advised for persons whose health would be particularly endangered by influenza. These high-risk groups include elderly persons and persons with serious chronic illnesses such as heart disease, lung disease or diabetes. Influenza vaccine is not recommended routinely for children.

Q. When should influenza vaccine be taken?

A. The current influenza immunization consists of just one injection and should be received before mid-November to provide maximum protection during the winter months.

Dancers to perform

In commemoration of our country's Bicentennial Celebration, the Montclair Starlite Series will present, as the third event of its current season, The Valentina Oumansky Dramatic Dance Ensemble in a special program of dances reflecting our American heritage. The program, one of six "Programs for the People" sponsored by the Recreation Department of the City of Montclair, will be given in the Montclair High School Auditorium, 4725 Benito, Thursday, Jan. 8, at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free.

Featured on the program will be "Homage to the Southwest Indian," a primitive work choreographed by Ms. Oumansky which gathers in essence the beauty and mystery of Nature as expressed through the ceremonial and masked dances of the Zuni, Navajo and Apache tribes. "In the Hills" expressing the North Carolina country's shuffle and stomp in the true grassroots, Americana style. "Cars," a modern day dramatic etude about cars, drivers, and near collisions. "The Birth of the Birds" from the ballet "Hieronymus," and a favorite perennial "With Apologies to Aesop" a suite of dramatic episodes with a moral. Ms. Oumansky's Ensemble has recently been awarded a commendation by Los Angeles Mayor Bradley for its community involvement in bringing concert dance activities to California audiences, and her program has been endorsed by the Los Angeles Bicentennial Committee.

HEALTH NEWS . . . 8 Million Suffer From Migraine

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

Dear Dr. Helzer: I have been told that migraine headaches cause brain damage. Is this true?

This was a question recently put to me. My answer read as follows: "If you suffer from migraine, you have enough trouble without worrying about brain damage."

— Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C. and there is evidence that no brain damage ever results. Migraine accounts for a frightful number of headaches, and the number of sufferers in the United States alone is estimated at from 2 million to as high as 8 million.

Migraine is the "sick headache" type — classically, on one side of the head, but generally so severe as to leave you no choice but to suffer through it. There is nausea, extreme sensitivity to light, sometimes a disturbance of vision, occasionally head noises and other odd symptoms beside the headache itself.

periods of stress trigger attacks. In some cases allergy seems to be involved, and some patients say that chocolate bothers them. In addition, if a person feels himself becoming tense and "all wound up," a deliberate effort to relax and let things slide, instead of maintaining the pressure to accomplish too much, helps.

Knowing these factors can be helpful in avoiding migraines. But, once a migraine has started, there is little to do but rest quietly and try to relax.

Strong drugs should not be used, but staying in a darkened room or covering the eyes with a cloth to shut out light often helps some.

The only truly effective course is to try and prevent these headaches. Instead of trying to find a remedy after they have started. Specialized chiropractic care is the choice of an ever increasing number of migraine sufferers.

And you know, some of the most thrilling and truly rewarding professional experiences I've had in chiropractic have come when an emigraine sufferer tells me that he or she has kicked the migraine habit.

(Note: Dr. Helzer maintains chiropractic offices at 108 East H Street, Ontario, telephone: 983-1711. (C) ABS 1976

Mushrooms take prizes

If a national poll were ever to be taken to determine the most popular vegetable for elaborate and festive occasions, there's no doubt fresh mushrooms would vie for first prize!

That's why this holiday stuffing recipe for turkey and other fowl will be doubly popular — it boasts mushrooms both in the stuffing itself and as an edible stuffing container. And watch the carver's eyes light up when he sees how easily this portable garnish is removed from around the bird when he's ready to begin the cutting.

This holiday season is the time to try something different, why not make it Mushroom and Sausage Melba Toasted Dressing?

Fresh Mushroom/Sausage Dressing
2 1/2-ounce melba toasted dressing or corn bread stuffing
1/2 to 1 lb. sausage (hot or regular style)
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1/2 cup diced celery
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons frozen or freeze dried chopped chives

1 to 1 1/4 cups water or broth

Empty bags of dressing into large bowl. Sauté sausage in skillet until browned and crumbly. Remove sausage and add to dressing. In same skillet, sauté mushrooms and celery until soft but not brown. Add butter and chopped chives; pour over dressing. Add liquid, stirring lightly to blend. Additional liquid may be used as desired. Spoon into 2 quart greased casserole and bake at 350 degrees 35-40 minutes, or until lightly browned and heated through.

For a more festive touch: Sauté extra large mushroom caps in butter just until they begin to shrink. Watch them closely. Remove from heat and drain off juice that accumulates in the caps. Fill with the sausage dressing, mounding slightly. Bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Top with sprig of parsley and arrange around turkey. To use mushrooms both in stuffing and garnish edibles increase recipe by one half to fill 6 to 8 large mushrooms.

Saucy bites of hot dogs

Saucy bites of hot dogs served hot and delicious. It's all in the sauce — an unusual blend of sweet and sour tastes to spice up your holidays.

Spicy Hot Dogs
8 hot dogs (boil and cut 1/2" long)
Sauce
1 1/2 oz. honey
1 1/2 oz. yellow mustard
1 1/2 oz. vinegar
1 1/2 oz. Worcestershire sauce
3/4 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
Blend honey and prepared mustard. Stir remaining ingredients, excluding parsley. Heat to a boil and add hot dogs; simmer for a few minutes.

Serve in chafing dish with chopped parsley. Serves 5-6

"THE AMERICA" — Bank of America's float in the 1976 Rose Parade, shown in the rendering in upper left, is called "Bringing the Celebration to the People." Taking shape in the workshop of float builder, Festival Arts of Pasadena (upper right), the float combines a re-creation of the nation's fastest train in the late 1880s, "The America" (lower left), and the cross-country display aboard a railroad car of the Liberty Bell (lower right) during the nation's Centennial celebration in 1876.

'America, let's celebrate!'

87th Rose Parade set

There will be plenty to celebrate in Pasadena on New Year's Day, 1976.

With "America, Let's Celebrate!" as the theme, and a famous and favorite songstress, Kate Smith, as the grand marshal, the Tournament of Roses Parade will get under way for the 87th time with a special salute to the nation's 200th birthday observance.

An historical prologue, 61 floral floats, 22 bands and 34 equestrian units are included in the two-hour program, which has been designated as the lead-off event for the Bicentennial by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

An audience of more than 1.5 million in Pasadena and another 100 million watching on television is expected to view the annual floral pageant.

Sixty-one floats
Included in the 61-float lineup are eight entries, participating in the parade for the first time.

They are the American Society of Civil Engineers, whose float theme is "Engineering a Better America;" the Barnum Festival with "The Barnum Festival;" the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints with "The Family is Eternal;"

The City of Holland,

Michigan, chose the theme "Tulip Time;" the City of Montreal, Quebec, Canada,

"One (Une) Double Celebration;" the Square Dancers of America, "The Great American Square Dance 1640-1976;" "Valley Forge" is the theme of the Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania's first entry, while United Airlines' entry is "Celebrate a Proud Land."

"We are proud to welcome these new participants, especially in this Bicentennial year," commented Tournament of Roses President Ralph S. Helpringer.

"The brilliant colors, lively animation and splendid floral beauty of all the floats is an exciting way to celebrate this most important year."

Describing the Bicentennial - oriented prologue Helpringer said, "The 3d (3rd) U.S. Infantry Regiment from Washington, D.C. will set the pace of the parade with authentic reproductions of 'The Spirit of 76' drums and fife and George Washington on horseback. They will be followed by the National Color Guard, the Commander in Chief's Guard, and the Fife and Drum Corps."

The City of Los Angeles, which has the distinction of being the oldest parade participant with 65 entries, is one of 19 cities entered. Los Angeles first appeared in 1906, and in 1976 will feature the float, "A Present From Our Past."

List of floats

A complete listing of 1976 float participants:
City of Alhambra, Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, American Society of Civil Engineers, City of Arcadia, Atlantic Richfield Company, Bakery and Confectionery Workers, Bank of America, Barnum Festival (Bridgeport, Connecticut), Baskin - Robbins Ice Cream Company, Bekins Moving and Storage Company, Big Ten Conference.

Others are the City of Burbank, City of Calgary (Alberta, Canada), CalPoly Universities (Pomona and San Luis Obispo), Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, 23.00 Credit Unions (Credit Union National Association), Dr. Pepper, City of Downey, City of Duarte - City of Hope, Eastman Kodak Company.

More are the Farmers Insurance Group, Florists' Transworld Delivery Association, State of Glendale, City of Holland (Michigan), Huntington - Sheraton Hotel, International House of Pancakes, Interstate Boards (Dolly Madison Cakes), Knott's Berry Farm.

Others are the City of Lakewood, Lawry's (foods and restaurants), City of Long Beach, City of Los Angeles, Los Angeles County, Lutheran Laymen's League, Mexico Minneapolis Aquatennial/St. Paul Winter Carnival (Minnesota), City of Montebello, City of Montreal (Quebec, Canada), Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, Province of Nova Scotia (Canada), Occidental Life Insurance Company of California, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, Pacific-8 Conference, Bicentennial Commission of Pennsylvania, Portland Rose Festival Association.

More are the Province of Quebec (Canada), Royal Court of the Tournament, Rand McNally and Company, City of St. Louis (Missouri), festival San Jacinto Association (San Antonio, Texas), City and County of San Francisco, City of Santa Monica, City of Sierra Madre, City of South Pasadena, Square Dancers of America, Sunkist Growers Inc., City of Torrance, Union Oil Company of California, United Airlines and Western Airlines.

Wagon train

A special Canadian segment and a Bicentennial Wagon Train will also be featured in the parade.

A first in tournament history, the Canadian seven-unit segment will consist of the floats from Calgary, Montreal, Quebec and Nova Scotia; the world famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride; the "Scarlet and Brass Canadian Forces Band" and the All-Canada Pipe Band.

The wagon train is the final unit in the parade and will continue directly from the parade on a designated route across the country. The Bicentennial Wagon Train Pilgrimage to Pennsylvania is a replay of history — only this time the wagons are going west to east. They are expected to follow historic trails and wagon routes as closely as possible.

Equestrian show

The Rose Parade is a horse show unequalled anywhere, according to Ellen Scripps Davis, former president of the Pinto Horse Association of America and 15-year participant in the Tournament of Roses.

The opinion of the entire Con Davis family of San Diego is quite similar: "Nothing they could pay us would be as great as the thrill of riding in the Rose Parade."

Recognized worldwide as a showcase for fine horses and elaborate costumes, the tournament promises to surpass all others in Rose Parade History.

A total of 34 equestrian units will link with floral floats and bands on New Year's Day for the 5½-mile Rose Parade.

Some 600 equestrians applied for the 238 parade positions. Explaining the selection process, Jack Whitehead, chairman of the Tournament of Roses Equestrian Committee said, "Quality is the basis. We are always trying to improve upon what we have had."

"We then group the horses according to breed and costume theme. The marshals of each unit are chosen with emphasis on experience and excellence," he explained.

Setting the pace Jan. 1 is the Long Beach Mounted Police, led by John Downing, president, and Ward Thompson, captain, as they carry the colors at the forefront of the parade. This posse of 26 matched palominos is marking its 29th Parade ride.

Appearing as an element of the seven-unit Canadian segment, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride is participating in the Rose Parade for the first time as a full contingent. Performed by a troop of 36 men and horses, the Musical Ride executes a variety of intricate figures and movements to music.

Al Malaikah Temple is also represented by a unit, the Silver Mounted Patrol. The 10 palominos will be led by Leonard Schinazi, president, and Elmer Larsen, captain. Attired in western costumes, 1976 marks the Shriners' 15th parade appearance.

Montie Montana

Having ridden in every Rose Parade since 1933, Montie Montana of Northridge is the "oldest" equestrian participant.

Known as a performer in the rodeo arena and a rope-trick master, Montana is celebrating 50 years in show business this year.

Montana's family will ride with him, including his son, Montie Jr., and grandson, Montie Jess.

Another favorite, Pearl Larson, of Sunnymead, makes her 22nd ride down Pasadena's Colorado Boulevard as the marshal of a unit of Arabians. Included in the group is Toby LeBard, Escondido, on a grey Arabian, which recently won Reserve National Champion - Native Costume Performance Class.

Liesle Bergman, Sepulveda, will ride the only other horse in the 1976 Parade with a national title. Her bay Arabian was the 1973 National Champion - English Pleasure, and the 1965 National Champion Arabian Stallion.

The only Tennessee Walking Horse will be ridden by Gail Colborn of Oxnard, the reigning Queen of Equestrian Trails Inc.

The authentic costumes of the riders range from Western and Spanish to Arabian, Charro and Indian. The costumes compliment the silver trappings of the horses, the estimated total value of which is close to $4 million.

Equestrians come mainly from California, but Oregon, Nevada, Arizona, Missouri, Ohio and North Carolina are also represented.

Rose Parade Judges

Three distinguished professionals will judge the floral floats entered in the parade. The three were selected for the 1976 festival by association president, Ralph S. Helpringer.

The judges will determine the winners of 18 major awards, commemorating the parade theme, "America, Let's Celebrate!"

In line with the three-year Bicentennial observance, the Bicentennial Trophy was initiated for the 1975-77 Rose Parades. This timely award is presented to a parade entrant who most effectively depicts the Bicentennial celebration in the U.S. The Al Malaikah Shrine Temple was the 1975 recipient.

The panel of judges includes:

—George T. Akin, 46, president of Universal Exhibits Display Projects in South El Monte. He is active in the design and construction of museums, trade shows, mock-ups, exhibits and visitor centers.
—John Henry Dudley, 63,

A Woman Ought to Know

Weight discrimination?

Dear Anita,

Can a female not be hired because of weight? Recently, I applied for a nursing position in Alameda County and was told that I was overweight. With all my educational background plus experience I was the most qualified for the position. However, the physician wouldn't even give me a physical examination because "the county standards" had to be met. I asked if I couldn't be hired on a probationary basis, being given a certain amount of time to lose the excess weight but no. The "county standards" were unbending.

Is it legal to not be hired because you don't meet a chart specification on height-weight?

W.A., San Francisco
Dear W.A.,

As far as we know, there are no laws on the books which specifically prohibit discrimination because of weight or height. In fact, several occupations such as police and firefighters have stringent regulations in this area.

However, there are laws which require employers to prove that the requirements for a position are "bona fide occupational qualifications." That is, that the physical requirements are necessary in order to perform one's duties.

The "county standards" which you mention may be related to insurance or health requirements. You should find out more about why the standards were set, and then ask the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission for a ruling.

Another option open to you may be the Fair Employment Practices Commission which reviews cases of employment discrimination based on race, color, creed, national origin, ancestry or sex. They have recently added discrimination based on physical handicaps to their list of prohibited employment practices, and you may be able to file a complaint with them. Good luck to you.

Anita Miller

Dear Anita,

Several months ago I read about a recent court decision which will make it difficult for rape victims to prove their case if the man who is being accused says he thought she was consenting. I thought we had a new law to prevent this type of information being used in court. What was the court decision? How can rape victims be protected from this sort of thing?

S.J., Los Angeles

Dear S.J.,

The decision you read about was "People v. Mayberry," a California Supreme Court decision which was handed down on Sept. 5, 1975. The practical effect of this decision was to open up a new avenue of defense for persons accused of rape by allowing the accused to plead not guilty because he thought the victim was consenting.

For those of us deeply concerned about the plight of rape victims, this decision was quite a set-back. The core of the problem resides in the definition of rape as a crime under California law. Section 261 of the Penal Code states that rape is accomplished under one or more circumstances, which can include "where she (the victim) resists, but her resistance is overcome by force or violence"; and "where she is prevented from resisting by threats of great and immediate bodily harm." The law practically requires that rape victims have to come close to death to prove that they did not consent.

A number of groups across the state are drafting revisions to this law. Hopefully we'll see a change very soon.

A final comment. Last year's legislation to assist rape victims during the trial process was "Robbins Rape Evidence Law." This measure prohibited use of a woman's past sexual history in the trial process to show that since she consented before, she would be more likely to consent again. The District Attorney's Association indicates that this law is operating very successfully.

Dear Anita,

When I was a girl, everyone said she gets out of high school.

R.K., Pleasanton

Dear R.K.,

The myth that all girls marry and, therefore, should have no career is very misleading. It is true that nine out of 10 girls will marry. But nine out of 10 will also be part of the work force for some part of their lives.

A majority of these women will work full time for as many as 30 years or longer. And four out of every 10 will find themselves the sole provider for their families.

There is more than one divorce now for every two marriages, and, although it may be an unpleasant thought, it is a compelling reason for proper preparation and planning. It is also important to know that women's longer life span, earlier marriage and smaller families mean that 30 or more years of active life remain for women after their youngest child is in school. Early planning can make those years all the more satisfying and productive.

Important in housekeeping

Apply safety practices

Job safety at home is as important as it is in manufacturing plants and offices. Any homemaker who has suffered a burn, broken bone or sprain knows this.

Everyone should check safety habits from time to time to be sure bad customs have not developed. Be aware of work patterns for a few days, advises The Soap and Detergent Association which offers the following guidelines for the homemaker's personal safety.

Dress properly for the job. Wear well-fitted shoes

Ice skaters

Excellent execution of the art of pair skating, with a great musical background will be presented in abundance in the 1976 edition of Holiday on Ice coming to the Forum Tuesday, Jan. 6 for 18 performances thru Saturday, Jan. 18.

Performances are set at 8 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays; 1 p.m., 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. on Saturdays; plus 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. on Sundays.

with low heels and non-slip soles. Clothing should be comfortable, allowing for free movement. Avoid flowing skirts, billowing sleeves and flimsy, fluttering fabrics which can catch on objects or ignite easily.

Take a break from work when fatigue sets in; don't try to set speed records. A steady pace with short rest periods is more likely to get the job done without mishap. It is also important not to schedule more than can be sensibly handled in a given period of time.

Avoid taking hazardous shortcuts. When trying to reach a high shelf, it is a great temptation to use the nearest chair or other means to gain extra inches. This can mean disaster! Always use a sturdy stepstool or ladder and place it solidly before climbing. Also, restrain the desire to lean out a little further than is reasonable. This situation often happens when painting, scrubbing walls and woodwork or washing windows.

Carry only as much as is comfortable, weightwise and sightwise. Carrying boxes, a stack of clothes, or anything else that is too high to see over and around is risky business.

Don't collect articles on stairways to be taken up or down at later convenience. Forgetting they are there, or for another family member who isn't aware of the obstacles, can lead to a nasty fall.

For safety underfoot, small rugs and mats without skidproof backing, or those which laundering has removed, can be coated with a non-slip spray or fitted with adhesive-backed rubber strips. Rugs with a non-skid finish should be vacuumed often and cleaned with a detergent or soap-filled sponge from time to time since dirt keeps the finish from gripping the floor. Check bare floors for uneven or rough areas, loosened tiles and wide cracks.

Always wipe up spilled liquid, food and grease promptly with a sudsy sponge. There is many a slip in a spot of grease, and water alone may not pick it up. Keep floors, especially traffic lanes, clear. Small objects are so easy to slip or trip on.

After scrubbing the floor, rinse well before applying wax. Soft, smeary wax is unsafe. The slip hazard can be decreased by buffing wax thoroughly to remove excess polish.

All through the house, appliances, both large and small, should be in good working order. Check information booklets for each to be sure that the manufacturer's recommendations for proper use and cleaning are being followed.

The kitchen is often the scene of accidents. Most are avoidable by keeping the kitchen spotlessly clean.

Always keep job safety in mind with the idea of eliminating potential hazards or safeguarding against them by improving or changing work routines.

"THE SEARCH FOR LIFE" — The Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West in cooperation with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center is sponsoring the floral entry, "The Search for Life," in the Rose Parade Jan. 1. The float anticipates the landing of a Viking spacecraft on the surface of Mars July 4, 1976, coinciding with United States 200th birthday.

chairman of the John Henry Company, Lansing, Michigan, a 65-year-old national marketing firm serving the floriculture and horticulture industries with graphics and accessories. Names to the Floriculture Hall of Fame, Dudley has served as president of the Society of American Florists and director of Florists Telegraph Delivery Association (FTD).

—Ronald D. Miziker, 34, director of Entertainment Show Development for both Disneyland and Walt Disney World. His responsibilities include developing live entertainment shows, such as Fantasy on Parade and America on Parade.

The 1976 Rose Parade judges are no strangers to the New Year's Day festivities in Pasadena. Dudley has viewed the last 21 parades. Akin, a long-time resident of Southern California, has also frequented the annual floral pageant.

Miziker had an inside view of the Tournament of Roses when he helped with the Disney Presentation of "50 Happy Years," which lead off the 1973 festival.

Judging of the floats commences 48 hours before parade time at eight construction sites, and is completed with a final inspection, in the formation area, at dawn on New Year's Day. The results are announced prior to the start of the parade.

Decisions are partially based on general overall beauty, execution of the parade theme, excellence of design, originality, use of flowers, and the photogenic impact on the live and television audiences.

The judges also consider the freshness of the flowers, costumes and minute details of construction. Floats must be entirely decorated with only fresh flowers and greenery in its natural state.

The judging panel works in coordination with acting Chairman Roy L. Coats, and his Tournament Judging Committee.

Alcoholism doesn't discriminate

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Alcoholism is a serious health problem — one that doesn't discriminate.

According to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, women increasingly are being numbered among the estimated 100,000 "new" alcoholics each year.

What's worse, about 68 per cent more women are dying from alcoholic-connected disorders than did 15 years ago.

But even these grim figures don't tell the whole story. That's because there's been reluctance to cite alcoholism as a cause of death when it was possible to attribute death to another cause. The result has been considerable under-reporting of deaths due to alcoholism.

The growing incidence of alcoholism among women, some researchers believe, may reflect not only growing numbers, but changing social attitudes as well. In today's social climate, women may feel more confident that their problem will be recognized as an illness, rather than a severe moral lapse — one that for many years was considered more serious for women than for men. As a result, they may seek help more frequently.

Medical science does not yet know exactly why some people become alcoholics while others, who may be heavier drinkers, do not. Research continues, and there is evidence to show that alcoholism may stem from a combination of physical and emotional factors.

Since alcoholism endangers health, job security and, especially, family relationships, awareness of early danger signs and drinking patterns that temporarily obscure the problem and postpone treatment is important.

Drinking alone and in secret, drinking in the morning, loss of memory after drinking are some of the serious warning signals that indicate help is needed.

Often, family members are the first to recognize these symptoms. In many cases, the woman who is an alcoholic and does not work outside the home has only her family to contend with. There are no boss and no co-workers to notice absences or inferior work, which often indicate a drinking problem. And because for many hours of the day she may be alone or with small children, she is often able to hide her drinking even from her husband.

Bicentennial focus to center on grassroots

Ready or not, here it comes — the nation's bicentennial year.

The celebration of the United States' 200th birthday party throughout 1976 will feature the grassroots rather than the grandiose. It's emerging as a mosaic of red, white and blue commercialism, fireworks and pageantry, with a serious undercurrent of idealism and dedication.

Except for the anniversary date of July 4, there seems no main focal point for the celebration of the birth of a nation and the concept of a revolutionary form of government declared by the Founding Fathers at Philadelphia two centuries ago.

But John W. Warner, director of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, is convinced the "do-it-yourself" formula of community rather than big government participation is producing a meaningful observance.

In an interview, the former Navy secretary said more than 7,500 American cities and communities have worked out officially recognized bicentennial plans.

"This has brought out the most massive volunteer effort in history," he said. "It means that in every one of those communities, people from every segment have sat down together and agreed to work together on a project."

Warner estimates the projects of cities, towns and villages along with 554 campuses involve more than 75 per cent of the U.S. population. Still others are expected to qualify before ARBA's March 31 cutoff date.

Inmates are emblazoning an American flag along the front wall of Statesville Penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., while scholars are taking part in weighty symposiums on the historic significance of the American dream.

The bicentennial will be an obvious boon to the travel industry. A survey commissioned by ARBA indicated 91 million Americans will visit a bicentennial event or site on their vacations in 1976 and another 55 million will make a weekend trip out of it.

Washington, D.C., is expected to attract the greatest number of tourists (27 million) followed by Williamsburg, Va., Philadelphia, New York City, Boston and Plymouth, Mass. An estimated 24 million vacationers will be drawn to an area known as George Washington country consisting of Virginia, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Delaware, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the study reported.

But the whistle stops and crossroads of the nation will get their share of visitors. Warner noted that a helper on his Virginia farm plans to drive with his family to Kansas "because he's never been there and he wants to meet the people and see 10,000 acres of wheat growing."

Typical was the December visit of the Armed Forces Bicentennial Caravan to Preston, Ga. (population 226). As host to its country bicentennial festival, the tiny town drew nearly 8,000 people, including the governor and a delegation from Concord, Mass.

There are bigger national showcase events in the works, beginning with the transfer of the Liberty Bell at midnight of Jan. 1 from Independence Hall to a new glass and steel pavilion one block away.

Washington, D.C., will feature a summer of events, including the transfer of the Liberty Bell at midnight of Jan. 1 from Independence Hall to a new glass and steel pavilion one block away.

Warner estimates the projects of cities, towns and villages along with 554 campuses involve more than 75 per cent of the U.S. population. Still others are expected to qualify before ARBA's March 31 cutoff date.

American folklife festival. An international fleet of tall-masted sailing ships will arrive in New York harbor on July 4.

Twenty-two Conestoga wagons and prairie schooners are en route from Blaine, Wash., to Valley Forge, Pa., and more than 2 million visitors have seen a privately financed Freedom Train on the first half of a 17,000-mile tour.

No over-all economic impact can be measured, but ARBA says 87 city mayors have reported that $131 million is being spent on bicentennial operations with $74 million of it coming from private sources. The federal government has allocated $16 million for public works projects connected with the celebration.

The commercialized aspects of the birthday observance are apparent, ranging from rubbishy gee-gaws to officially ARBA-sanctioned products entitled to use the bicentennial emblem or merit badge bestowed by the commission.

In the nation's capital, a street huckster was harassed out of business by a group of young people incensed by his trashy Founding Father wares.

Critics of the operation point to the advertising tie-ins and tourism tub-thumping. Jeremy Rifkin, director of the Peoples Bicentennial Commission, charged: "They're not celebrating the Revolution. They're celebrating the takeover of this country by the rich and the traditional exploitation of the poor." Warner acknowledges that trash offerings tend to cheapen the significance of the 200th anniversary of a nation, but he defends the more worthwhile wares being marketed.

"One major lure to millions of immigrants who came to this country was the free enterprise system," he observed. "The American people want a memento of this event and I feel they have enough good judgment and common sense to purchase those articles they regard as appropriate and leave the junk on the store shelves."

He notes that a big corporation has underwritten one of the most impressive exhibitions in Europe and this country, The World of Franklin and Jefferson, with an almost unnoticed, sevenword credit line: "through a grant from the IBM Corp."

Not all of the proposed projects have been as successful. For instance, a suggested American Bicentennial Fleet to be created by the Federal Maritime Commission was abandoned because of insufficient financial funding and interest.

Yet an American Issues Forum, sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities, has caught the attention of millions by triggering debate on the issues that led the people of a small colonial society to declare for self-government two centuries ago.

Warner predicts the looking backward and the looking forward will prove an antidote to the sour aftertaste of the Vietnam war and Watergate.

"It will get rid of the vestiges of those events which deprived many of confidence in the sense of who we have been and where we're going," he declared.

"It will bring the American people together as people of one community working toward a common plan. It will help put an end to that loss of confidence and reinstate a sense of purpose for everyone in the world."

Jazz-rock drummer at Citrus College

Les DeMerle to perform

Jazz-rock drummer Les DeMerle and his octet, Transfusion, described by "Downbeat" magazine as "one of the most volcanically explosive bands ever to hit the West Coast," will appear in concert at Citrus College auditorium 7:30 Jan. 11.

On the same program will be the 20-member Citrus Jazz Ensemble, top-rated jazz group at last year's Orange Coast Jazz Festival. The group recently performed at the Reno International Jazz Festival sponsored by the University of Nevada, and also performed, with the El Toro Marine Base Jazz Band, the "Ballet in Brass," written especially for the Citrus College group by Vic Schoen, nationally known composer and arranger.

As an added concert highlight both groups will appear in a grand finale led by DeMerle, with a drum panorama featuring six sets of drums.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students with ID cards.

DeMerle is one of 36 players selected in 1974 to be in the Zildjian Cymbal

Company's Hall of Fame. He and his group play high-energy jazz. DeMerle says of his music, "This band almost literally gives people a transfusion. We used to think of it as new blood, new fire, exploring new music. We play to a lot of different audiences at festivals and concerts. Not just the hard-core jazz audiences, but for people who have never even heard improvised music before."

In addition to leading Transfusion, DeMerle composes most of its music, conducts music and drum clinics across the country, has recorded award-winning albums and written a drum book, "Jazz Rock Fusion." He also operates his own musical theater and musical showcase, the Cellar Theatre, in Hollywood.

DeMerle has played with Lionel Hampton and with the Lee Castle-Jimmie Dorsey band. Leonard Brown, music reviewer for the "Los Angeles Free Press" says of DeMerle,

"He is probably going to be the greatest drummer in the world someday — maybe next week." He toured recently with Harry James.

"Variety" magazine's Howard Lucraft comments that the "Les DeMerle Transfusion displays musicianship and intriguingly fresh, modern approaches. The band fuses many influences — jazz extemporizations in the 70's style, rock cross rhythms, Indian drones, etc. All perform with enviable technique. Les DeMerle drums with drive, facility and fire."

Tickets may be purchased in advance of the concert at Citrus College auditorium box office, 1-5 p.m. weekdays; at the college's Music Department office, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. weekdays; or at the box office the evening of the performance.

THE FOUR TOPS — Helping to welcome 1976 at Disneyland's New Year's Eve Party will be The Four Tops performing on the Tomorrowland Stage at 9 p.m., 10:30 p.m. and 12:15 a.m. The event will also feature a Midnight Castle Show with "Fantasy in the Sky" fireworks and other talented performers.

Early patriots created equal

WASHINGTON — Many Colonial women heard the fervent calls of "liberty," "equality," and "freedom" and bridled at the circumstance that while the Patriots declared all men equal, they drew the line at declaring women equal to men.

In short, the seeds of modern feminism already were sprouting in America long before the Colonies declared their independence.

Researchers at the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration have unearthed records of many heroines during the American Revolution — and also found some strikingly advanced feminist thought, advanced feminist thought.

Abigail Smith Adams, wife of the second president, was among the most forthright in her views. In a letter to her husband 200 years ago, she said:

"I cannot say that I think you very generous to the ladies, for whilst you are proclaiming peace and good will to men, emancipating all nations, you insist upon retaining an absolute power over wives. . . we have it in our power not only to free ourselves but to subdue our masters."

Abigail remained in Massachusetts, taking full charge of family affairs including running a farm while her peppery husband, John, pursued revolutionary politics.

Mercy Otis Warren was another outspoken feminist patriot who like Abigail, rebelled at the social pressures against women who wanted a serious education. Writing that if women's minds seemed to dwell on trifles while men dealt with power and wealth, she noted:

"The deficiency lies not so much in (the) inferior contexture of female intellects as in the different education bestowed on the sexes."

She deeply resented the practice in the Colonies and elsewhere in the worth of fathers using their marriageable daughters as a means of bartering for wealth or power.

There well may have been a wealth of feminist thought and sentiment during the Revolution. But women
